

Edwalton Primary School's Partnership with the Flying High Trust

The school are proud to announce that the conversion process is now complete. On 1st October 2015 Edwalton Primary School entered into Partnership with the Flying High Trust. We would like to take this opportunity to thank parents, families, staff, children and wider members of the school community for the positive and informed way in which you engaged with consultation. The ongoing communication throughout this period helped ensure everyone had the opportunity to contribute and shape the future of our school.

Joining the Flying High Trust, as discussed during consultation, brings with it a wealth of opportunity, support, challenge and accountability to ensure we continue to improve every day to provide the best opportunities for our children. This is an exciting time for everyone and we will continue to keep you informed regarding the progress of the school and events and opportunities for children, staff and families to benefit from being a member of the Trust.

Brian attends the Strategic Heads Group of the Trust every three weeks and has developed a partnership plan in conjunction with the Head teachers of the Trust and the Trust themselves. This plan details a range of activities and events including joint sports events, music and art events, a Children's Parliament and an annual Trust Awards evening to celebrate and recognise the achievements and commitment of our children, staff and wider school communities. Of course this is on top of the regular school improvement visits and training we will receive from the Trust. The Trust will keep you updated via a termly newsletter and welcomes feedback and ideas.

As a school we are proud of our identity and uniqueness and we will continue to meet the needs of our children and are confident that the partnership with the Trust will only enhance the fantastic experience we provide for our children.

Sara Dawson
Chair of Governors

Brian Owens
Head Teacher